Subject: Asancha – How It Works Page UX Update

I have reviewed the current How It Works page. The information is comprehensive, but the page currently explains too much of Asancha's internal processes and business rules.

The objective of this update is to make the page simpler, customer-focused and consistent with the Homepage, Find Properties and List a Property journeys.

Please do not redesign the overall Asancha visual style. This is primarily an information hierarchy and content simplification update.

1. Simplify the Hero

Eyebrow: HOW ASANCHA WORKS

Headline:
A Simpler Way to Source and Progress Property Opportunities

Supporting copy:
Asancha connects investors with property opportunities from owners, agents and sourcers, with investment insights and a structured process to help evaluate and progress suitable opportunities.

Primary CTA: Find Properties
Secondary CTA: List a Property

Avoid making "Create Account" the main CTA. Users should first choose what they want to achieve; registration should happen when required.

---

2. Make "Discover → Evaluate → Progress" the Main Journey

Immediately after the hero, introduce the simple three-stage journey already used on the homepage:

01 – Discover
Browse property opportunities sourced from owners, agents and property sourcers.

02 – Evaluate
Review property information, investment calculations and estimates, and understand how an opportunity fits your requirements.

03 – Progress
Sign in when required to save opportunities, access eligible protected information and take the next available action.

This should become the main explanation of how Asancha works.

---

3. Replace the Current Account/Profile Journey With “Choose Your Journey”

The current account → verification → profile → dashboard explanation is too operational for the main How It Works page.

Replace it with:

CHOOSE YOUR JOURNEY

Investors – Find & Evaluate Opportunities
Discover properties, define investment requirements, evaluate opportunities and progress suitable deals.
Explore Investor Journey →

Property Owners – List a Property
Submit a property, complete required checks and reach relevant investors.
Explore Owner Journey →

Property Sourcers – Submit Sourced Opportunities
Bring sourced investment opportunities to Asancha, manage deal information and progress opportunities.
Explore Sourcer Journey →

Property Agents – List & Manage Opportunities
Submit properties you are authorised to represent and manage their progression.
Explore Agent Journey →

Service Providers – Support Property Progression
Provide relevant professional services to users progressing property opportunities.
Explore Professional Services →

Sourcers should remain clearly visible because sourced opportunities are an important part of Asancha’s property supply model.

---

4. Keep “Where Property Opportunities Come From” but Simplify It

Use four concise cards:

Property Owners – List properties they own or control.

Property Agents – Submit properties they are authorised to represent.

Property Sourcers – Bring sourced investment opportunities.

Approved Partners – Provide property opportunities/information through approved partnerships or integrations where applicable.

This section is important because it demonstrates that Asancha brings opportunities together from multiple sourcing channels.

---

5. Simplify the Property Status / Supply Process

Remove the detailed public explanation:

Draft → Submitted → Under Review → Correction Required → Approved → Published → Reserved → Completed/Sold.

These detailed statuses belong within the relevant dashboard/workflow rather than the public How It Works page.

Replace them with:

FROM SUBMISSION TO OPPORTUNITY

Submit → Review → Publish → Progress

Supporting copy:

Property submissions are reviewed before publication. Depending on the opportunity, Asancha may check property information, authority, supporting documents and other relevant information before it becomes available to investors.

This must remain consistent with the existing business rule that submitting a property does not automatically publish it.

---

6. Replace “Protected Actions” With a Customer-Friendly Trust Section

Replace the current technical Protected Actions section with:

PUBLIC DISCOVERY. PROTECTED PROGRESSION.

Browse Publicly
Explore available public property opportunities without creating an account.

Access When Eligible
Sign in and complete the required checks to access eligible protected information.

Progress Securely
Take appropriate property/deal actions through your Asancha account.

Supporting copy:

Some property information and actions require an account, verification or appropriate access to help protect property owners, investors and deal information.

---

7. Remove Technical/Operational Explanations From the Main Journey

Please remove the standalone sections explaining:

- Dashboard access is not full approval
- Payment proof needs review
- Detailed protected actions
- Detailed API approval processes
- AI operational explanations

These may be valid business rules, but they do not need to be prominent on the public How It Works page.

Surface these messages contextually when a user reaches the relevant feature or action.

Where investment intelligence is discussed, a simple statement such as the following is sufficient:

“Insights support your evaluation — investment decisions remain yours.”

---

8. Reduce API Partner Content

API Partners should not be part of the primary customer journey.

Near the bottom of the page, provide a simple secondary link:

Are you a technology or data partner? Explore API Partnerships →

The detailed API journey should remain on the dedicated API Partner pages.

---

9. Simplify the Final CTA

Replace the existing account/API-heavy CTA area with:

READY TO GET STARTED?

Find Properties – Primary CTA
List a Property – Secondary CTA

Underneath:

Are you an agent, sourcer or property professional? Explore Professionals →

Technology or data partner? Explore API Partnerships →

---

10. Correct Terminology and Footer Positioning

Please ensure customer-facing terminology uses:

Find Properties / Property Opportunities

rather than Marketplace, wherever appropriate.

The footer proposition should be consistent with the other signed-off pages:

“A UK property sourcing and investment platform connecting investors with property opportunities from owners, agents and sourcers.”

Recommended Final Page Structure

Please restructure the page in this order:

Hero
↓
Discover → Evaluate → Progress
↓
Choose Your Journey
Investor | Property Owner | Property Sourcer | Property Agent | Service Provider
↓
Where Property Opportunities Come From
Owners | Agents | Sourcers | Approved Partners
↓
From Submission to Opportunity
Submit → Review → Publish → Progress
↓
Public Discovery. Protected Progression.
Browse Publicly → Access When Eligible → Progress Securely
↓
Ready to Get Started?
Find Properties | List a Property
↓
Secondary links for Professionals and API Partners
↓
Footer

Important

This update should reduce and consolidate the existing page rather than add more content to it.

The purpose of the How It Works page is to help a new visitor quickly understand:

1. What Asancha does
2. Where property opportunities come from
3. How they can use the platform
4. How opportunities are evaluated/progressed
5. What they should do next

Please preserve the underlying business rules, verification requirements, role permissions and backend workflows. The change requested here is to the public-facing explanation and UX hierarchy, not the underlying platform architecture.

Sign-off criteria: A first-time visitor should be able to understand the basic Asancha journey within a few seconds without needing to understand the platform's internal workflow or technical architecture.